Scott P. Durrett, M.D. - Board Certified Ophthalmologist

Dr. Durrett currently resides in Venice with his wife, Kelly and two children, Alyssa and Ryan. Kelly is a practicing anesthesiologist in the Venice area. Dr. Durrett is a native of Florida and returns to the Gulf coast to practice ophthalmology. Dr. Durrett provides comprehensive management of eye care including cataracts, glaucoma, macular degeneration, emergency and routine eye care. He offers some of the most advanced cataract surgery available including ReSTOR[®], Crystalens[™] and Tecnis[®] multi-focal lens implants which significantly reduces the need for distance and reading glasses.

Dr. Durrett received his medical degree from Creighton University in Omaha, Nebraska. His residency followed at the University of Florida. Dr. Durrett was honored to be selected as a chief resident earning his fellowship in cataract surgery.

Dr. Durrett also has memberships to the following:

- American Medical Association
- American Academy of Ophthalmology
- American Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgeons
